SUMMER

Mrs. Robert Mitchell and Ralph recently went to Rumford to see her late husband and baby which was born January 24th, Annie Estella; both mother and baby are doing well.

The lumber business is just recovering from another rain storm that started last Tuesday evening, the 14th, putting all birch teams to loafing and about four hundred cords of birch at a standstill, some of which is a mile and a half from the mill in Thompson's pasture and the slightest improvement since it stopped raining, Wednesday, was about three inches. Nevertheless, Mr. Bosse's courage is the best and is in hopes to put all the teams in Monday morning.

Donald and Floyd Varney have finished hauling their birch and maple to the Tibbets mill and have joined the Bosse crew. They each have a good team. Anyone interested in good horsemanship and would like to see loads of birch skillfully handled by medium sized teams guided by expert teamsters, just drive around the Bosse works when the sliding is in progress where you can look upon two and one-half cords of birch on a twenty-four foot Open Road, a little paper published by Bruce Calvert at Mountain View, New Hampshire. In a recent number, writing about the psychology of advertising, he said: "The psychology of advertising is in its relation to truth is peculiar. A man who would hesitate to lie to you face to face, will unblushingly make dishonest claims in print. Until we have a vastly greater sense of responsibility for what we say in print, it will be possible to talk a British and American advertiser through almost any untruth, no matter how gross, extreme, and absurd, for 1928. All this will undoubtedly go on as long as there is nothing new under the sun. We get a slightly different mixture, but the base of the pudding served to us is essentially the same from year to year. This is a fine world to live in. If we keep our receiving apparatus in right tune we will get many flashes of joy. The 'Sun' sets a 'little' further from the sun as the days go by. Balm's days will soon be due in Norway and Alton, for which Allah be praised."

Echoes From Old Newspaper

Published in Vermont in 1816

Miss Ruth M. Graves, assistant in the office of Oxford County Farm Bureau at South Paris has a curiosity in the form of a time worn copy of "Sponcers Journal," printed and published at Windsor, Vt. by Alden Spooner, Mar.
 11, 1816. There are four pages of four columns each carrying an amount of advertising matter with little material that would hold the modern reader spellbound.

Anti-bilious pills and bitters, and Vegetable Cathartic are medicines of the day that furnished much reading on the first page. A long-winded and sleep producing speech of Mr. Atherton in favor of the repeal of the direct tax covers much space. Doings in the N. S. Congress for one week, probably was absorbed with reish in that good old day.

In the general news is the item that the Kentucky Abolition Society presented a petition for a tract of vacant land to be sent apart for the residence of free Negroes and Mulattos.

Another item is news from Napoleon Bonaparte at St. Helena, who is reported "in good health but at variance with Bertrand and the rest of his suite."

It is reported from Indiana Territory that an inexhaustible quantity of Galuber Salts had been discovered twelve miles west of New Albany and twelve miles from the Ohio River. The salts were found in a cave and need no purification.

Spotted fever has appeared in various parts of the country and taking heavy toll. Whole families are said to be wiped out. Drinking whiskey distilled from "spurred rye" is responsible for the disease according to medical news.

A story is told of a hold up man who impersonated the Devil to impress his victims and permit the extraction of a considerable sum of money. The Devil secured the loot but a third party not susceptible to the impersonation, laid Satan low, retrieved the money and handed his majesty over the constables. This bit of yellow journalism has a modern flavor and ripe for the tabloids.

Alba Kimball announces the purchase of the first Connecticut edition of Scott's Family Bible and agents are wanted to collect subscribers. It will be a work of art embellished with twelve wood cuts, and issued in twenty-four numbers each comprising 180 pages quarto.

Type formerly "occupied" in printing the "Washingtonian Newspaper" in Windsor will be sold on reasonable terms.
 Tehadon Onion issues a call for settlement and gives notice of a partnership at Chester, Vt. to be known as Onion & Chandler, farmers and carpenters.

 sor, at 10 A. M.

One trader uses much space to tell the folks his stock comprises cassimores, coating, fear nought, bonzettes beaver bric, hardware, crockery, hetro ware, Jamaica spirits, Holland gin, Lisbon

Mitchell's Scrap Book
 The duty of the ordinary man is to enjoy himself, that being all he can hope to do. Those of unusual ability, or specially favored by circumstances, may gain honors or acquire riches. To such, happiness is of no less importance.

He, who has made a fair start at something, if he finds happiness in it, will do well to stick to it and try to improve it.

There is no sense in saying, it is good enough, be nothing can be good enough, while it can be better. The bright spots on the map of civilization were placed there by people who took time to do something better.

Complacency is the feeling that the cat had after she ate the canary. The canary had no feeling of self-satisfaction.

The flowers of happiness and the weeds of misery grow side by side in the garden of life. The gardener's judgment, or lack of it, makes or mars the scene.

When individual liberty ceases, there is no liberty. When one is allowed to dictate and the other forced to obey, it becomes a matter of master and slave.

Despise not the little things. Think of what a yeast, cake can do to five gallons of water and other things.

"I don't dislike your superiority," she said, "for I have never seen it. I've heard a great deal about it, but you've given me no evidence of it."

It is a calamity when youth is knocked out of a man and nothing comes to take its place.

Life is very simple and easy, after you learn what to expect and how to accept it.
 It merely consists in learning how to do without what you want, to make the best of what comes that you don't want, and to endure it all with smiling courage.
 What could be easier?

When natural impulses are in conjunction with favorable, economic circumstances the result is easily determined, however many laws are enacted.

Do we seek truth? Here is truth: Wine is cleaner than water. Wine cleans itself; it sends every bit of impurity, however tiny, to the surface. There are no disease germs in wine; but water is often alive with them.

Crooked sticks are not useless: a very comforting fire can be built from them.

Senator Hale Should Be Sent Back to the Senate

L. P. Evans, editor of the Piscataquis Observer, has this to say. It expresses our mind exactly and we give it place in our paper.

 "When Frederick Hale was first mentioned for United States Senator, I like many others, looked upon him only as the son of a rich mother who was ambitious for him to go where his father had been for so long. However, he was elected and went to Washington.

"In the winter of 1920 I was in Skowhegan where I met Col. Roy L. Marston.
 In the course of our conversation Senator Hale was mentioned and Col. Marston told me that when he landed in New York on his return from France, a leading Senator from the West told him that Hale was one of the coming men among the younger senators.

"When I was in Portsmouth and Kitter-y in the summer of 1925, Geo. D. Boulter of the latter town told me that he had to visit Washington in the interests of the navy yard and had found Senator Hale always willing to help him in any way possible.

"He also said he was told in Washington that after Senator Hale was made chairman of the Naval committee he found a man who was thoroughly familiar with the work of the naval department and 'sat at his feet' until he could take up his duties as chairman and reach the success he has attained.

"The following from a letter, written by an Oxford county man, shows that impression of Senator Hale's work in Washington is not confined to his people.
 "I can't understand why Baxter and Brewster have joined to crowd out Fred Hale, who in my way of thinking is worth while in Washington. To change to Brewster would be foolish.

"I'm a Democrat and shall vote for Redman if he is nominated regularly by my party, but I do hope the Republicans will not be corrupted by Baxter and Brewster and Hale sidetracked.

"Hale is the only man we have had in Washington for the past six years, who has amounted to a map of your finger-in a national sense. Better keep him on the job."

"Maine's period of greatest influence in Congress was when she was returning Blaine, Hale, Frye, Reed, Dingley and Boutelle. Because that custom worked so well it should be continued, and Senator Hale should be permitted to continue the good work he is doing."

SECRETARY JARDINE

Agriculture has graduated from the luck period, according to W. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture at Washington, and good or bad crops, which were once considered matters solely of chance, are now looked upon as less a matter of luck and more a matter of skill by the average farmer. Flood, storm and drought still threaten farm prosperity, but the farmer has a fighting chance, not only to break even, but to profit over the elements.
According to Secretary Jardine the most impressive development of our time in agriculture has been the improvement in efficient farm equipment. In other words, during the last half century or less more has been done to eliminate loss and insure profit for farmers than during the whole previous period.
One of the outstanding contributions of science to farming has been the silo, he states. A recent survey of some 400 Wisconsin farms shows that the silo-equipped farm earns 64 percent more than a farm without a silo. The silo is not only a reservoir for stock feed but it uses more of the crop and eliminates losses from premature cutting.
Farmers have found he points out, that much of the profit lies in cutting feeding costs. By shortening the period over which stock must be fed in feeding for market, the farmers not only cut down his feeding cost but decrease the possibility of loss by disease.
The farmer has found that he can gain time by feeding concentrates scientifically and at the same time, by supplementing his corn ration with linseed meal, he is able to get quicker gains at less cost.
A well-tried ration for dairy cattle has been found to be the well-known 4-2-1 ration consisting of 400 pounds of corn, 200 pounds of oats and 100 pounds of linseed meal with corn fodder and about a ton of clover hay.

LOVELL CENTER

"Jolly-Ate" Club

Th many friends of Mrs. Addie Kimball of No. Four will probably be much surprised to learn that she began driving the school sleigh (for graduates of 1899, and later) on Thursday of this week. Her outfit consisted of "Old Spide", and a sled equipped with the old fashioned two-in-a-seat desks and her "pupils" were the Number Four contingent of the "Jolly-Ate". They were bound for the weekly bridge party of the club, held this week at the home of Mrs. Bessie Stearns at Centre Lovell.

The customary two tables of bridge were played and again, Mrs. Ruth Starford carried the home. Mrs. Althea Brooks became a member of the club and celebrated the occasion by carrying home the consolation prize. The party was an exceptionally happy one because it was not only the weekly meeting of the club, but it was the first house-warming of the lovely new home of the hostess. As is usual in the "Jolly-Ate", "inspected and approved", from basement to garret; and there were many expressions of pleasure from the members over the beautiful furnishings. In addition, the event was also a celebration of the birthday of the hostess and again another year was subtracted from her age. She was substantially remembered by many of her friends.

Three courses of delicious refreshments were served and the hostess was showered with compliments for having given one of the most entertaining parties of the series. Next week the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Althea Brooks.

In line with this reporter's effusion of last week relative to the party at Mrs. Addie Kimball's it is a notorious fact that your reporter is color blind in her off eye, therefore permit us to make a correction in regard to the color of the velvet dress worn by Mrs. Stearns. This should have been described as black velvet, instead of dark green.
